

Global Hiring With and Without G-P

In the past, hiring internationally was a luxury that only large corporations could afford. Now, with the help of our #1 global employment solution, any company can source and hire their ideal candidates, regardless of geography.

GLOBAL HIRING WITHOUT G-P

1. The search for international talent can be long and costly if you don't know the local market.
2. Each country has its own labor laws and employment regulations. Your company should conduct thorough research into the specifics of each jurisdiction to avoid legal penalties.
3. Your company must establish a legal entity to hire the new employee; the process can be costly and take up to two years, depending on local regulations.
4. Every department in your company must be prepared for new administrative tasks, legal challenges, recruitment, and onboarding processes, and international payroll. The workload will be greater and more complicated when you operate in different legislations.
5. After several months of paperwork, costly procedures, and red tape, the new hire can start working. In the absence of an automated platform, the employer will need to track productivity and performance manually.

GLOBAL HIRING WITH G-P

1. G-P Recruit is a feature of our global employment solution that allows companies to leverage specialized recruiters to find skilled candidates based on their unique needs.
2. G-P's team of HR experts is familiar with local tax laws and regulations to ensure your company's overall compliance.
3. With G-P, the entire hiring process is managed on one platform. Companies can hire employees and contractors in 180+ countries in minutes, not days – no entity setup required.
4. Our customizable packages of global employment products adapt to your unique needs. With G-P, you can manage payroll, employee benefits, generate locally compliant contracts, onboard new employees, and automate HR tasks – all in one place. Additionally, our customers can access around-the-clock support from our team of local experts.
5. The new hire can start working in just a few minutes. Thanks to our industry-leading technology and customized reporting features, your company can strengthen and restructure the recruitment process to optimize future hires.

Expanding your business to new countries and regions can be a complicated endeavor, but with the help of G-P, you won't have to worry about the legal headaches, international payroll, taxes, or HR challenges. Trust the experts and start hiring skilled employees anywhere in the world today. Our SaaS-based platform gives you all the tools and support you need to make your global expansion simple, fast, and efficient.

REQUEST A PROPOSAL