

WIC Federal Income Guidelines
In effect May 1, 2026 – June 30, 2027

These guidelines are based on your gross income. Gross income is the amount before any deductions are subtracted.

Family size	Annual	Monthly	Weekly	Biweekly	Twice-Monthly
1	$29,526	$2,461	$568	$1,136	$1,231
2	$40,034	$3,337	$770	$1,540	$1,669
3	$50,542	$4,212	$972	$1,944	$2,106
4	$61,050	$5,088	$1,175	$2,349	$2,544
5	$71,558	$5,964	$1,377	$2,753	$2,982
6	$82,066	$6,839	$1,579	$3,157	$3,420
7	$92,574	$7,715	$1,781	$3,561	$3,858
8	$103,082	$8,591	$1,983	$3,965	$4,296
9	$113,590	$9,467	$2,186	$4,370	$4,734
Each additional family member	$10,508	$876	$203	$405	$438

How to choose family size if a woman is pregnant

A pregnant participant who does not meet income eligibility requirements based on their current family size and income, shall be reassessed for eligibility based on a family size increased by one, or by the number of expected multiple births. The increased family size must have applicant agreement.

Note: Proof of multiple births is required following standard procedure.

In situations where the family size has been increased for a pregnant applicant, the same increased family size should be used for any of the categorically eligible family members.

This institution is an equal opportunity provider.